Request to Attend KindCon 2026

[Email body]

Hi [Boss's Name],

I'd like to request your support in attending KindCon 2026, taking place September 1-3 in Nashville, TN. This conference offers incredible value, both for my growth and for the insights I can bring back to our team.

Here's why I believe it's worth the investment:

- Immediate, practical value: Sessions are led by peers who share candid insights into how they've used Kindsight to reduce manual work, strengthen data confidence, and accelerate priority initiatives.
- In-depth training opportunities: This year includes a full day of product training, as well as additional mainstage and breakout sessions (plus CFRE credit opportunities!)
- Access to product experts: Workshops and engagement with Kindsight's top product experts could reduce our reliance on external consulting throughout the year.
- Strategic networking: High-value opportunities are woven throughout the agenda to connect with peers facing similar challenges and learn what's worked for them.
- Ability to shape the future of Kindsight: My participation and engagement at KindCon can help shape solutions that better meet our needs.

Additionally, KindCon 2026 offers a true all-inclusive experience, with registration covering all meals and drinks during KindCon programming, and two evening events—helping us save on travel and entertainment costs while staying focused on the experience.

With early bird registration at $595 and the potential for team discounts, I'm confident this investment will deliver significant value for our team. This price point is on par (or lower) than other industry conferences, but delivers more immediate and relevant value.

Thank you for considering this opportunity. I'm happy to discuss how I can ensure we maximize the return on this investment.

Best,

[Your Name]
